Learn to Speak Chinese Language Fast

To learn to speak mandarin fast, you have to understand the differences between your own pronunciation and Mandarin Chinese, and take a targeted learning. To quickly practice Mandarin, you must know the differences between your pronunciation and Mandarin. The vocabulary of Chinese is very large. If you want to learn again, it is like Arabian Nights. And many of them are already mastered. Pertinence is the most effective way of fast learning. To understand the differences, we should find a good reference. It is best to listen to the radio and tapes, watch TV, and listen to the pure voice. When you find problems, you should focus on specific exercises, especially in your daily speech. Through listening to news broadcast and daily communication, I found that my problems were mainly on the flat and the tongue and the nasal. So I pay more attention to these words and slowly correct that.

Move your mouth diligently. Every night read some speeches or other reading materials before bedtime. It does not take much time. But try to pronounce each word correctly. Especially in the ordinary study, work and life, adhere to using Mandarin to communicate. When encountering pronunciation problems especially, be more careful. Slowly correct. And sometimes you would rather slow down voice than make the wrong pronunciation. In the long run, the errors can be corrected!

1. Dictionaries.

When you encounter incorrect pronunciation, you should master it accurately.

Do not jump over it. Looking up the dictionary will deepen your memory.

2. Recording equipment.

Record the sound, especially when you do not know your speaking level, by using a recording pen. Repeatedly listening to the wrong place. Pay more attention to it and try to correct it.
